

I am supporting the ARRL proposal on restructuring of Ham licenses because it has something for everyone.

Entry level amateurs get limited HF privilege and morse code is still kept alive in the top license.

I am currently a tech (W1GOD) who would like HF access but is unable to grasp morse due to a hearing problem. No matter if its a physical or lack of ability to learn morse, the bands would be used more if more amateurs were allowed in.